

December 2024 features update

We've made some enhancements to SurfSeller which will be coming your way in the next few days.

Regulatory

We're continuing to add features to assist with the requirements of GPSR. In this release we're providing the ability to upload and store pdf documents in SurfSeller which will then maintain the documents across all of your ASINs, listings and bundles of your products.

We're currently wrapping up the testing of uploading these documents to eBay and linking them to your Amazon listings, however we're providing the management features now as you may have many documents to handle.

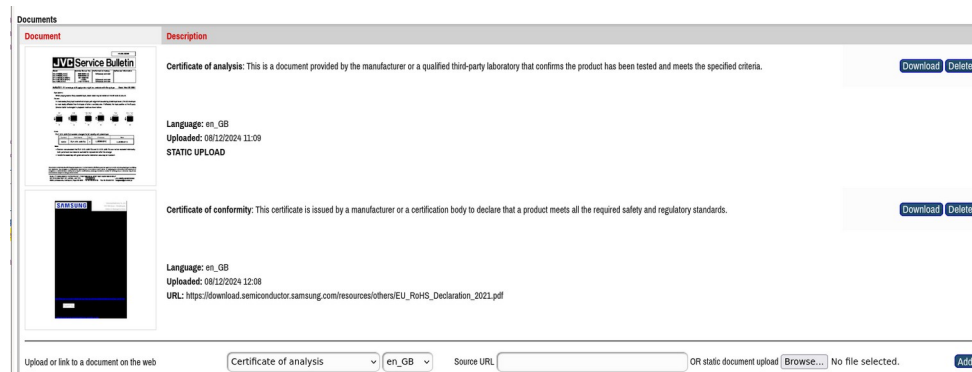

You can maintain the pdf documents from either from the product page:

or the "Products > Catalogue":

The top section of the page lists the existing pdf documents and you can delete, upload a static file or create a link to a web url e.g. to a pdf on the manufacturers website. As SurfSeller also stores these documents you can come back and download them should you need to. SurfSeller will periodically refresh website links, but static uploads are just that.

To add a new document, select the type of document and language then either enter the "Source URL" where the pdf document can be found on the web or choose a file on your computer and click (Add).

The bottom of the page deals with links to other products on SurfSeller. This is useful where a manufacturer provides different packaged combinations of its products sharing the same documentation. By using the feature you only need to maintain the underlying products.

SurfSeller bundles are automatically handled and cannot be edited in the documents page for a bundle, however, you may add extra documents or link additional products.

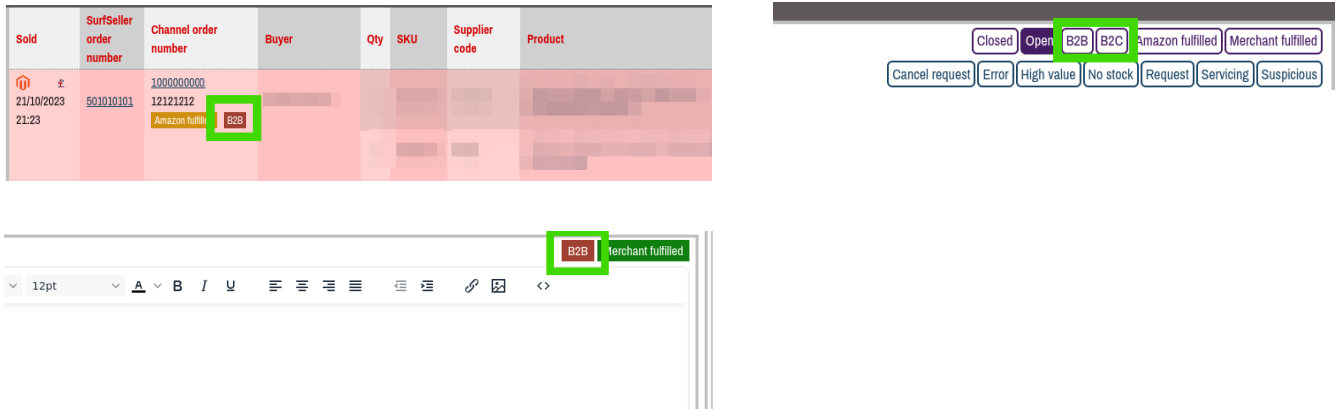

To link a product just select it from the drop-down, with the filter searching the product name and Supplier Reference then click (Include).

Again, it's expected these features will evolve as experience is gained, so please let us have any feedback.

B2B orders

A new indicator and filter has been added, so now you can differentiate B2B orders in "Sold > Sales" as well as in the order detail. Amazon orders already have this indicator set and it is set for Shopify by providing a "B2B" tag on the customer or order data.

New channel Go Groupie

Go Groupie UK and Ireland together with Discount Experts are now available as channels. It's included, so if you'd like to use it just ask and we'll enable it for you.

We hope you find these changes useful and thank you for using our products. We're here at care@shopcute.com.
